About Childhood Arrivals Support and Advocacy(CASA):

Childhood Arrivals Support and Advocacy (CASA) is a program at Justice For Children and Youth (JFCY) legal clinic. CASA supports young people who were brought to Canada as children, and are living in Ontario with precarious or no immigration status. CASA provides free and confidential legal advice, help with immigration pathways, and connections to supports and resources. This ward forum will also cover ways teachers, guidance, and school administrators can support young people with precarious immigration status within classrooms and when preparing to graduate high school.
